Morton Data

The following pages from the Morton Genealogy, which I have been compiling for years, give the generations in my descent from John Morton and William Morton. There were several other men of the name Morton who lived in Virginia prior to 1800 from whom have come distinct lines of descent, but what relationship these Morton patriarchs bore to each other is a problem for their descendants to solve. I will be glad to receive any data bearing upon these early Mortons and in return will cheerfully furnish any information in my possession. I hope to publish the entire family history at some future time. I am indebted to many persons for help, but cannot mention names in the body of the text, though I am thankful to all. When dates are not given it is because they are unknown.

DANIEL MORTON, M. D.,

January, 1901 St. Joseph, Mo.

Explanation

The system of numbering which I have devised is based on letting each decimal point represent a generation. The number will then indicate the line of descent, kinship to other names and generation of each person mentioned. For instance, the number 115 means that the name bearing this number is the fifth child of the first child of number one John Morton, and of the third generation. The relationship of any two descendants can therefore be easily determined by comparing the numbers which they bear, thus number 12 is the uncle of number 115, and number 121 and number 115 would be cousins.

AN EXTRACT FROM THE DESCENDANTS OF JOHN MORTON

1. John Morton. A careful search of Morton data and documentary evidence enables the following statements to be made concerning John Morton and his family. He owned land in King George County, Virginia prior to 1747. He was married to Mary—— surname unknown. She was married twice, John Morton being one husband and —— Jordan another. The dates of marriages are unknown. By her Jordan husband she had a son John Morton Jordan, who died in 1771, and mentions in his will, his wife Dorothy and a minor son John Nesbit Jordan. The origin of John Morton and his wife Mary is unknown. The Morton crest is believed to be a lion rampant. It is evident that the Morton and Jordan families were intimately connected.

Children: Morton: 4.

11. Joseph; of whom hereafter; m. (1) Frances Colston; m. (2) Elizabeth (?) Beckwith.

12. George; of whom hereafter; m. Lucy Baylor.

13. Mary; m. Jonathan Sydenham, "late of London, Merchant;" no other facts.

14. Frances; m. (1) Nicholas Meriwether; will proved in Goochland Co., 1758; m. (2) Samuel Pryor of Goochland; no other facts.

11. Joseph Morton, b. ——, d. 1759, in James City County, Va.; m. (1) Frances Colston dau. William Colston and Mary Meriwether: see Excursus, Meriwether, Colston, Bellfield; m. (2) Elizabeth or Margaret Beckwith, daughter Sir Marmaduke Beckwith of Richmond County, Virginia; a full genealogy of this family can be found in The Beckwiths by Paul Beckwith. The founder of the family was Sir Hugh de Malebisse, a follower of William the Conqueror. Joseph Morton was Justice of King George in 1744. Capt. Daniel McCarty, Parish of Cople, County of Westmoreland, in his will dated March 29, 1724 pr. May 27, 1724 names "my well beloved friends Col. Presley Thornton, Mr. Joseph Morton, Mr. Augustine Washington and Mr. Lawrence Butler, Gents, exrs." Augustine Washington was the father of George Washington. It is significant that Joseph Morton named one of his daughters Betty McCarty and another Lucy Butler. Joseph Morton was a member of the House of Burgesses of Virginia.

Children: Morton: 1st marriage with Frances Colston: 1.

111. Frances, m. James Hubard of Williamsburg, Va.; lawyer; Crown Solicitor; of an old cavalier family of Virginia and England; a man of high character. He was a Tory and went to England with Lord Dunmore. His property was confiscated by the Colonies. See Hubard Genealogy in the William and Mary Quarterly Magazine, 1895-96.

Children: Morton: 2nd marriage with Elizabeth (?) Beckwith: 6.

112. Molly Beckwith; no facts.

113. Lucy Butler; no facts.

114. Betty McCarty; of whom hereafter; m. Col. George Payne.

115. William Jordan; of whom hereafter; m. Martha Pryor.

116. Margaret Sydenham; of whom hereafter; m. Robert Payne, (brother Col George Payne).

117. ———; a son; not christened when Joseph Morton wrote his will in 1758. Tradition states that he died young. No other facts.

---

115. William Jordan Morton: Born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, Nov. 15, 1754. Died and buried at "Snowden", Logan County, Kentucky, Jan. 3, 1825. Grave obliterated. Married March 16, 1779, Martha Pryor, dau. William and Sarah (Wood) Pryor. See Pryor Genealogy. Martha Pryor, b. April 6, 1761, d. March 15, 1800, and buried on the farm on which her husband lived in Louisa County, Virginia, about eighteen miles from Louisa C. H., near Thompson's Cross Roads. Her grave is obliterated. She was an accomplished violinist; her violin remaining in the family for many years, but finally disappearing. After her death her husband would never allow any of the children to "draw a bow." When William Jordan Morton was five years old his father died, and he was taken to Essex County and raised by his two uncles, Marmaduke and Sir Jonathan Beckwith. He resided in Louisa and Goochland Counties, moving about 1783 from the latter to the former, all of his children being born in one or the other of these counties. In 1811, his son, 1155 William Jordan, came to Logan County, Ky., and was followed by Joseph, John, and Fannie, the remainder of the family coming out in 1815. Thus the entire family emigrated, consisting of William Jordan, twelve children, together with the slaves, and established themselves at "Snowden", this being the name given their new home, at the head of Gasper River, Logan County, Ky. It is reported as a remarkable thing that the emigrants encountered only one light shower of rain during the entire trip. William Jordan Morton is said on good authority to have been a Revolutionary soldier and the comrade in arms of George Blakey and James H. Davidson, who were also residents of Logan County, but no documentary proof of such service has been found. He is supposed to have died intestate. See "Sketch of William Jordan Morton and his family".

Children: Morton: 12.

1151. Peter, b. Dec. 16, 1779, in Virginia, d. Dec. —, 1854, in Logan County, Kentucky, and buried at "Snowden." Married Mrs. Sarah Maxwell when he was sixty-five years old. No descendants. An intelligent, well-read man. Methodist in belief, but not a church member. Soldier in the War of 1812.

1152. Sarah; of whom hereafter; m. Martin Robertson.

1153. Rebecca; b. May 21, 1783. in Virginia; d. May, 1838 and buried at Snowden. Never married; in old age large and fleshy; a shouting Methodist; godly and religious. Could make the welkin ring.

1154. Fannie Hubard, b. March 9, 1785. in Virginia; d. July 21, 1834, and buried at Maple Grove Cemetery, Russellville, Ky. Never married. A religious woman and faithful member of the Methodist church.

1155. William Jordan; of whom hereafter; m. (1) Rebecca Haden; m. (2) Louisa McCormick; m. (3) Clarissa McClellan.

1156. Margaret B., b. March 31, 1788, in Virginia, d. Aug. 20, 1875, at home of her brother Marmaduke Beckwith Morton, Russellville Kentucky. Buried at Maple Grove cemetery. She was a beautiful woman, the most beautiful member of the family.

1157. Joseph; of whom hereafter; m. Louisa Davidson.

1158. John; of whom hereafter; m. (1) Elizabeth Rollins; m. (2) Catherine Miller Spencer.

1159. Elizabeth; of whom hereafter; m. Jefferson Hayden.

115(10). Marmaduke Beckwith; of whom hereafter; m. (1) Nancy Caldwell; m. (2) Elizabeth Smith Morton Caldwell.

115(11). Henry Pryor, b. Sept. 13, 1798, in Virginia, d. Oct. 15, 1870, in Logan County, Kentucky, and buried on farm of brother Joseph Morton, near Auburn, Ky. Died single. Farmer; man of fine sense. Lived at "Snowden". When a child he would often compel his brother Marmaduke to carry him in arms by the novel procedure of holding his breath. This would so frighten Marmaduke that for fear his younger brother would die he would pick up Henry and walk off with him. This little story has passed down the generations.

115 (12). Martha; of whom hereafter; m. James McCarley.

115 (10). Marmaduke Beckwith Morton of Russellville, Ky., b. in Louisa County, Virginia, Sept. 13, 1796, d. March 11, 1887, buried at Maple Grove Cemetery. 115(10)7. Infant daughter, born and died June 27, 1843.

115(10)3. David Morton of Kentucky, born at Russellville, Ky., June 4, 1833, d. at 705 West Chestnut, Louisville, Ky., March 9, 1898, from blood poisoning, the result of a slight wound of the left thumb, made by a splinter four days previously. Buried Maple Grove Cemetery. Married by Rev. N. H. Lee at Russellville, August 8, 1854, to Hannah Wilson Bottomley, b. February 5, 1831, dau. Rev. Thomas Bottomley and Hannah (Wilson) Bottomley. See Bottomley Family. M. B. Morton's first wife; died in June, 1834, and he then had his sister, Frances Hubard Morton, come and live with him and take his youngest child, David, in charge, then about one year old. This sister lived only about one month after this, dying in July, 1834. The baby David was then taken to his Grandfather Caldwell's home and placed in charge of his maternal aunt, Betsy, who subsequently became his step-mother also. The following are some of the important dates in the life of David Morton. Licensed to preach in 1852 by Quarterly Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Russellville, Ky.; Joined Louisville Annual Conference, 1853; President Russellville Female Academy 1864-68; member of General Conference M. EXCURSUS-MERIWETHER-COLSTON-BELFIELD

1. Mary Meriwether; dau. Francis Meriwether and Mary Bathurst. (Richmond, Va. Standard, Oct. 2, 1800), b. ——, d. Oct. 6, 1750. M. (1) William Colston; b. ——, d. 1721; son of William Colston, who made will Oct. 27, 1701; pr. Dec. 3, 1701 and who married Ann Beale, widow of Thomas Beale, Jr. and daughter of William Gouge (Gooch). The Colstons were descended from Robert de Colston of Colston Hall, living at time of Conquest. Willam Colston the emigrant, was a son of William Colston, a great merchant of Bristol, England. William Colston, merchant, was a brother of Edward Colston the Bristol Philanthropist, merchant of Bristol and London and Member of Parliament. Mary Merriwether m. (2) March 9, 1723-4, Thomas Wright Belfield; b. Jan. 1, 1704; d. Oct. 7, 1743; son of Joseph Belfield by first wife Frances Wright.

Children: 1st marriage: (Colston):

12. Mary; m. John Smith, Gent. Richmond Co.

13. Frances; m. Joseph Morton of James City Co. Issue: Frances Morton, who married James Hubard of Williamsburg, lawyer. In the division of the land of Willam Colston in 1738, Mary got the Northumberland land, and Frances got the King George land.

Children: 2nd marriage: (Belfield).

14. John; b. June 23, 1725.

15. Elizabeth; b. Oct. 25, 1732-35; m. —— Stark.

16. Frances; b. March 23, 1735-6; m. (1) —— Walker; m. (2) Broadnax. There were five others, who died before their mother; 13, 14, 15 survived their mother.

It thus appears that Mary Meriwether by her first husband had a daughter, Frances (Colston); and by her second husband another daughter, Frances (Belfield).

Mary (Meriwether Colston) Belfields will, dated 1750, is in Will Book 5, p. 452, Richmond Co., Va. She therein mentions her granddaughter, Frances Morton.

BELFIELD

1. Joseph Belfield. Of the Parish of Sittenbourne, Richmond County, Va.; Chirurgeon; emigrant from England; made will July 18, 1736, probated June 5, 1738, leaving to his son, Thomas Wright Belfield, 20 shillings, to his son Joseph Belfield, one-half of his estate, to his wife Elizabeth Belfield, the other half, which after her death was to go to Joseph. M. (1) Frances Wright, b. Jan. 7, 1685, dau. Mattrom (?) Wright and his wife Ruth Griggs, dau. Robert Griggs of England; m. (2) in 1707-17 about May 20, Mrs. Mary Wilson, dau. William Lane, who left her one-half interest in 2,500 acres of land in Sittenbourne Parish, patented July 20, 1662 unto George Morris and William Lane; m. (3) Elizabeth ———.

Children: Bellfield.

12. Thomas Wright; by 1st wife; b. Jan. 1, 1704-5; d. Dec. 7, 1743; m. March 9, 1723-4, Mary (Meriwether) Colston, widow; see above; will dated 1743 is in Will Book 5, p. 427.

13. Joseph; of whom hereafter; believed to have had (131) a daughter Nancy, who m. (1) William Lane by whom she had several children; m. (2) April 23, 1778, Enoch Smith, by whom she had several children, among them a daughter (1311) Sarah, b. May 27, 1786.

AN EXTRACT FROM THE DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM MORTON

1. William Morton, Orange County, Virginia. Of the ancestry of William Morton, nothing authentic is known. Tradition states that he or his ancestors at one time owned large tracts of land upon which portions of the City of Washington, D. C., are now built. After disposing of it the family moved to Orange County, Virginia, where descendants reside today. William Morton married Ann Mothershead, it is believed; her brother or her father was at Braddock's defeat. William Morton died 1748, made will Dec. 8, 1747, proved July 28, 1748, will book 2, p. 131, witnesses George Taylor, Taverner Beale, W. Russell, J. Branham, Jr., John Smith. Appoints his wife, Ann, Executrix, and his son Elijah and son-in-law, Andrew Bourne, executors; mentions wife Ann, also grandchild George Morton, son of Elijah Morton, also granddaughter Frances Christopher, who afterwards married Francis Bourne and became the ancestress of Gen. Bristow. Mentions the following

Children: Morton: 8.

11. Son, Jeremiah; of whom hereafter; m. Sarah Street.

12. Son, Elijah; of whom hereafter; m. Elizabeth Hawkins.

13. Son-in-law, Henry Bourne and my daughter Ann, married before August, 1746.

14. Son-in-law, Thomas Newman and my daughter Elizabeth.

15. My daughter, Mary Minor, or Morris?

16. Son-in-law, Andrew Bourne: of whom hereafter; whose wife was Jane, though his will does not mention her.

17. Son, John, then under twenty-one years, believed to have been married to a Miss Bourne, sister of Henry and Andrew Bourne.

18. Son, George, died before his father hence his name does not appear in the will. Will Book 2, page 21, shows qualification of Jeremiah Morton as administrator of George Morton, died October 25, 1744 and at page 30 the inventory and appraisement of personal estate of George Morton, made October, 1744, amounted to 391 pounds, 16 shillings, 9 pence. A George Morton m. Margaret Strother, April 6, 1744, in Overwharton Parish (see Register). He lived but a few months. Perhaps he was this man.

12. Elijah Morton; m. Elizabeth Hawkins, whose ancestry is not known; license issued July 3, 1745, in Spottsylvania County, Virginia; her brother, John Hawkins, was the ancestor of Gen. W. O. Butler; the will of Elijah Morton has never been found.

Children: Morton: 7.

121. George Morton; of whom hereafter; m. Jane Morton.

122. William Morton; of whom hereafter; m. Elizabeth Hite Smith.

123. Joseph; no facts.

124. John; of whom hereafter; m. Mary Tandy.

125. Sallie; m. William Bledsoe, Aaron Bledsoe on the bond, license issued July 21, 1785; no other facts.

126. Frankie Terrill; no facts.

127. Betsey (?) of whom hereafter; m. William Quisenberry.

122. William Morton, emigrated from Virginia to Kentucky about 1785, after selling "Soldiers' Rest" near Berryville, Va., to Gen. Daniel Morgan; m. in Virginia, Elizabeth Hite Smith, dau. of Major Charles Smith, and Rebecca Hite, daughter of John Hite, son of Joist Hite of Valley of Virginia fame. Charles Smith was an officer with Washington at Braddock's Defeat and the Great Meadows, and was wounded. Berryville, Va., stands upon his old homestead. Charles Smith was the great grandfather of William H. English, Indianapolis, Ind., Democratic candidate for Vice-President. (See the Conquest of the Northwest" by English, for an account of the public services of Charles Smith and Joist Hite.

Children: Morton: 14.

1221. Charles Smith; of whom hereafter; m. Hannah Bright.

1222. George Washington; of whom hereafter.

1223. Abram Bowman; of whom hereafter; m. Martha Fletcher.

1224. John Hite; of whom hereafter; m. Sarah Price.

1225. Gabriel J.; of whom hereafter; m. Winnie Taylor.

1226. Elijah; of whom hereafter; m. Miss ——— Stewart.

1227. Joseph, died in early childhood.

1228. William Raglan; of whom hereafter; m. (1) Nancy Thomson, (2) Eliza James Bradford.

122(10). Kitty; m. Ben Vance; no children; no other facts.

122(11). Mary; of whom hereafter; m. John Barner.

122(12). Rebecca; of whom hereafter; m. James Haden.

122(13). Elizabeth Hite, died single, known as "Aunt Betsy Lexington" because she lived part of her life in Lexington, Ky. There was an Aunt Betsey Hayden who lived at Auburn, Ky., and was an own sister of Marmaduke Beckwith Morton. It became necessary, in order to avoid confusion, to so distinguish these old ladies. Aunt Betsy Lexington was often called upon by her widower brothers to raise their children. On one occasion she made the trip to Missouri on horseback to the home of her brother George Washington to take charge of his motherless children.

122(14). Sallie, died single in Lexington, Ky., no other facts.

1229. Frances Terrill Morton; b. Nov. 29, 1798: d. Oct. 23, 1862; buried at Maple Grove Cemetery, Russellville, Ky. Married April 3, 1808, Andrew Caldwell, son of Oliver Caldwell. Full details concerning Andrew Caldwell and his wife are set out in the Caldwell Family, which see. They were a noble couple and served well their day and generation. Their descendants are set out also in "The Descendants of John Morton," which see.

Children: Caldwell: 8.

12291. Nancy; of whom hereafter; m. Marmaduke B. Morton.

12292. Elizabeth Smith Morton; of whom hereafter; m. Marmaduke B. Morton.

12293. William Morton Fletcher.

12294 Daniel Duverney.

12295. George Ann.

12296. Frances Ellen.

12297. John Andrew.

12298. Andrew Peter Akers.

12291. Nancy Caldwell; b. Sept. 8, 1809, d. June 19, 1834; buried at Maple Grove Cemetery, Russellville, Ky.; m. Sept. 6, 1827, Marmaduke Beckwith Morton. After the death of Nancy Caldwell her sister, Elizabeth Smith Morton Caldwell, was married also to Marmaduke Beckwith Morton. In the children of these marriages two strains of Morton blood commingle. Nancy Caldwell and her sister were descendants of William Morton of Orange County, Virginia. Marmaduke Beckwith Morton was a descendant of John Morton. So far as know John Morton and William Morton were not related. See Descendants of John Morton.

Children: Morton: 3.

122911. Daniel.
